

Design Pattern and DCD document

GreyMatter

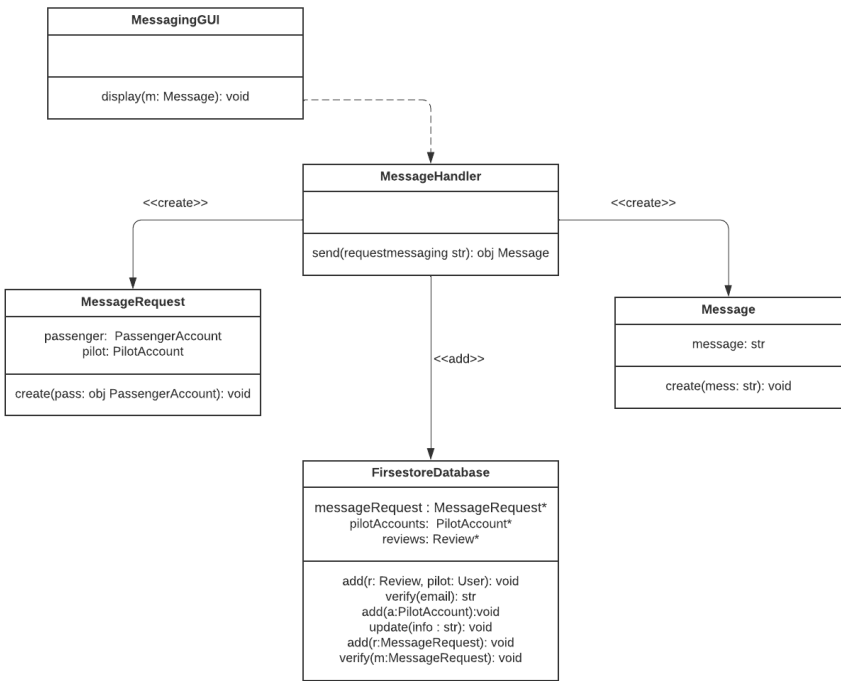

Create Pilot Account

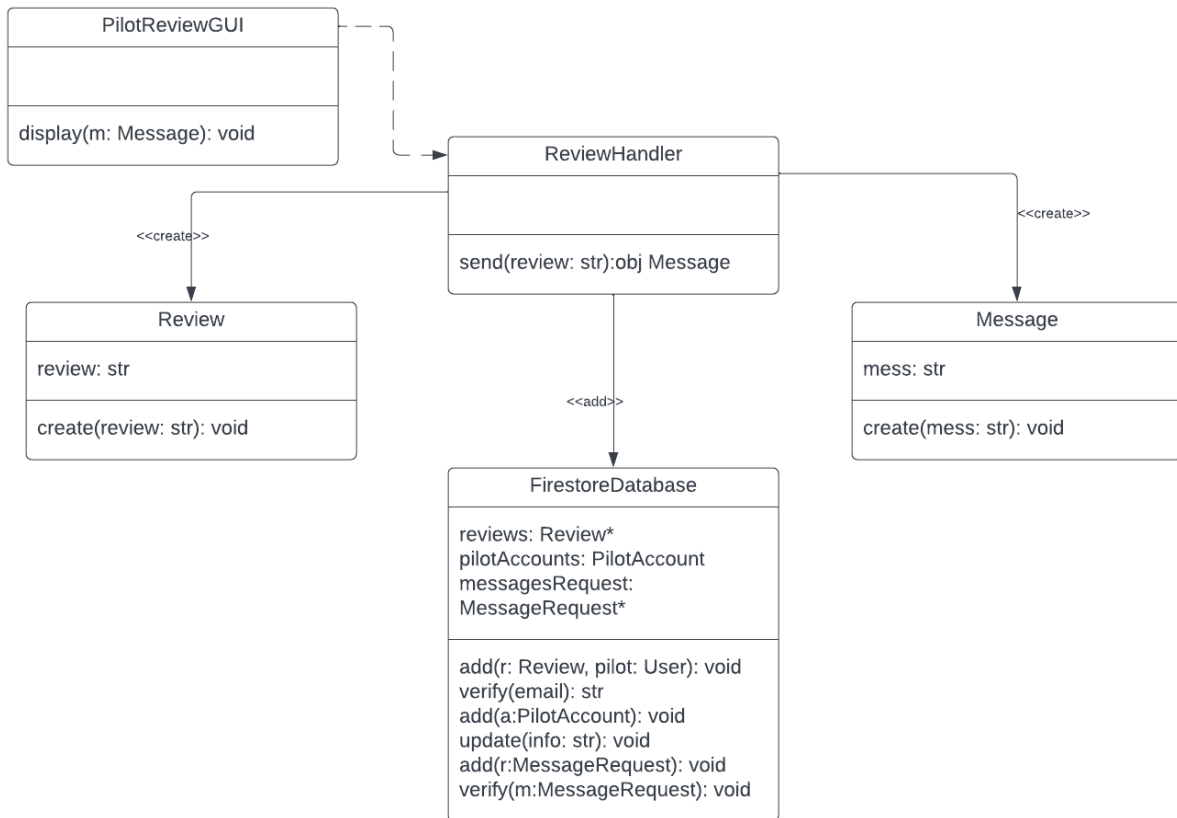

Edit Passenger Account

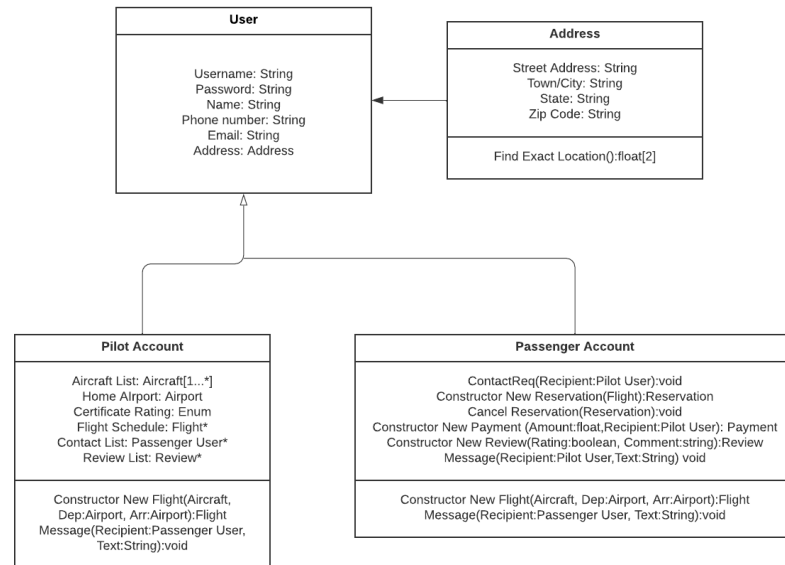

Contact Pilot

Write Review

Design Pattern

The Template Method is a suitable pattern for FlyAway because there are two different kinds of users, Pilot and Passenger, that have some similar base attributes and methods. This is a perfect place to have an abstract User class with the PilotAccount and PassengerAccount subclasses that can inherit the base attributes and methods needed for a basic User account while also adding other elements needed for the specific class. In this case the User class would be the abstract class and PilotAccount and PassengerAccount would be the concrete subclasses.